His stare was finally broken to look down at his woven project.

COFFEE TABLE COMICS

@ Jason_Brubaker

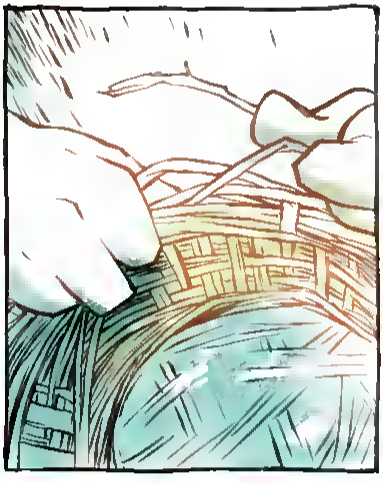
Is it...
...a hAt?"
Plik'

Do you have a name?

The creature regarded her with a strange intelligence. Nirvana was sure he could understand her, even if he acted otherwise.

The creature appeared confused. It glanced around in a panic and then back to a frozen stare.

She always had a way with animals, why should this strange creature be any different?



"I won't hurt you." She said.

"It's lookin' right at me!"

Her heart raced. And yet, she saw no threat in its eyes. Instead she recognized something. . . familiar.

But how could that be?

Hey, there...

she said.

Sithrah

by

Jason Brubaker

His mouth never moved, Nirvana realized.

LINE Webtoon

Did he say those words out loud, or did she hear them inside her head?